

THE WEATHER Fair and somewhat cooler tonight: Wednesday fair; moderate west to northwest winds.

'RED' MURPHY SLAIN BY WATCHMAN AS GANGSTERS BATTLE

Wife at His Side When Notorious Underworld Character Succumbs in Hospital

Exciting Shooting Affray at 5th and Montrose Sts.

Murphy Jailed 17 Times; Once Tried for Murder

Nine arrests for aggravated assault and battery. Two for carrying concealed weapons. Three for robbery.

The career of 'Red' Murphy, notorious gangster and gunman, was closed by a bullet fired by a private watchman during a fight at 2 o'clock this morning at 5th and Montrose streets.

Murphy died at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon in the Pennsylvania Hospital. At his bedside were his wife, an attractive little blonde, and his mother and two sisters.

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Murphy was taken into the hospital by a patrolman who held him until he was conscious for a moment and murmured: 'I'll get him yet.'

Figures in Gun Fight

ALBERT 'RED' MURPHY JOHN J. RUTH

Murphy, a notorious gangster, with a police record, was shot and fatally wounded by Ruth, a special policeman, during a pistol battle of gunmen early this morning at 5th and Montrose streets.

3 BANDITS GET $10,000 PAYROLL

Hold Up Hog Island Paymaster on Mifflin Road

FLEE IN AUTOMOBILE

A United States Shipping Board paymaster was robbed of $10,000 in cash by three bandits this afternoon on the Mifflin road, just beyond the county line.

The money which was taken from him was for a Shipping Board payroll. The paymaster, whose identity has not been divulged, had just driven the money from a bank and was talking it to Hog Island.

Three armed men in a big touring car staged the hold-up, ranning the paymaster's car head-on to force him to stop.

The paymaster, driving a small machine, was running over Fort Mifflin road, which is the main road leading from the Penrose Ferry Bridge to Hog Island, when he encountered a big touring car.

The paymaster did not suspect until too late that he was being tricked. There was momentary confusion after the collision, and the paymaster tried to back his car out of the wreck.

The paymaster tried to get the car numbers, but the thugs were reversed. He was taken to the hospital and died.

The paymaster tried to get the car numbers, but the thugs were reversed. He was taken to the hospital and died.

The paymaster tried to get the car numbers, but the thugs were reversed. He was taken to the hospital and died.

SPROUL TO AID IDLE WITH $12,000,000 FUND FOR ROADS

$40,000 Will Be Spent for Employment Agencies at Strategic Points

GOVERNOR CALLS ATTENTION TO IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Twelve million dollars of State funds will immediately be released for the building of roads, said Governor Sproul today, to comply with President Harding's appeal to the States to do all they can to relieve unemployment.

The Governor, who is confined to his home with a slight cough, said in a sense Pennsylvania had anticipated the President's request, as this State already has $125,000,000 worth of State work under construction.

The $12,000,000 that will be released at once will be distributed among the various counties, already having from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 in funds.

The Governor explained that the $12,000,000 represents part of the $50,000,000 road appropriation held in reserve because the State was waiting for Congress to take action regarding the matter of having the National Government employ agencies in strategic parts of the State.

At the President's request to speed things, Governor Sproul said he felt it was his duty to see that the money should be spent at once.

The Governor also explained that there was an emergency unemployment fund of $40,000 which he would immediately put into active use by organizing employment agencies in strategic parts of the State.

Governor Sproul was inclined to take an optimistic view of the unemployment situation. He said that while he knew there were thousands of men out of work, he believed the figures were to some extent unreliable.

Figures Not Always Reliable Published figures, he explained, were obtained in various ways that were not always reliable. He cited the city of Chester, where he said that while it was true that the thousands of men who had been employed in war work there were no longer in the shipyards and factories, it is also true that all these men are not necessarily out of work.

The State Department of Agriculture, he said, was receiving very encouraging reports from the various counties. He said that he was going back to the farm, never in the history of the bureau, he said, have so many requests been received for small farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The $125,000,000 worth of construction work under way, the Governor explained, was being carried out by the State Department of Public Works, which he said was doing a splendid job.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

The Governor also said that in his personal observation he had noted the large number of young men to be seen in the country districts. During the war they had been employed in the army, and now they were returning to the farms.

Nurse Glad to Be Tried If Eastlake Is Set Free

Sarah Knox Pleads for Man Accused With Her of Murdering Wife, Calling Him Innocent. His Clothing Is Found

Fredricksburg, Va., Oct. 4.—Miss Sarah H. Knox, Baltimore nurse, who with Roger D. Eastlake, naval petty officer, is held here in connection with the murder last Friday of Eastlake's wife, Mrs. Margaret P. Eastlake, today announced she would be satisfied to be charged with the killing provided the officer was released.

"The boy is absolutely innocent," said Miss Knox, referring to Eastlake, who is thirty-six years of age. "He should let him go immediately. They are trying to fasten this crime on me, and on the constable that I was on duty with at the time. The idea is preposterous. Why, I am old enough to be Roger's mother."

"Coincident with Miss Knox's statement, which was before the court, the protest of her attorney, Eastlake made his first statement for publication, telling how he had planned to visit this city Saturday to see a military parade in connection with the fall maneuvers of the Marine Corps, bringing his wife and two children with him.

After Eastlake had been out of his wife that he had before not over two weeks ago, he said that he had been on duty with the constable at the time of the murder. He said that he had been on duty with the constable at the time of the murder.

PATROLMAN KILLED CHASING SUSPECTS

Edward S. Boynton, on Motorcycle, Crashes Into Automobile in West Phila.

Wanted Revenge, Drug Addict Cries, and Felt Murder Was His Duty

Salvatore Lappresi hauled his "buddy," Coniglio Santo, to death last night, inflicting more than fifty wounds, in their room at 1005 South Randolph street.

Lappresi was insane with drugs, and his burning hatred called for revenge on Coniglio Santo, the man who, he says, had made him a crazed slave to "dope."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

M'CORMICK'S WIFE WEPT ON VOYAGE, SAY PASSENGERS

Others on Liner Had Premonition of Matrimonial Troubles of Rockefeller's Daughter

New York, Oct. 4.—Sheets has been divided by the definite split between the Harold E. McCormick and the domestic storms of Alexander Smith (Cochran) and Ganna Walska.

Passengers on the steamship George Westinghouse had an inkling of the difficulties developed by Mrs. McCormick, who wept on the voyage, and frequent spells of weeping of Mrs. McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, her companion, Edwin Krann, sensed the only one who could draw her mind into less somber channels.

Not the sinuous Walska, but Alexander Smith (Cochran) himself, did the "tamping" in their brief counsels, says Dudley Field Malone, retained by Mrs. Walska to bring legal action against "America's wealthiest bachelor," Malone yesterday said that Cochran had pursued Mme. Walska until she became his wife.

Mr. McCormick, it is expected, will play rather a prominent part in the Walska-Cochran feud. The case will be tried in the New York Supreme Court. It is expected, will reveal the death of his interest in young women singers and actresses in his capacity as "manager" of the Chicago Opera Company. It is said he was particularly interested in the success of Mme. Walska and Mme. Gladys Sakhoff.

Mme. Sakhoff was an exponent of a new school of dancing, which first attracted the attention of Mrs. McCormick at Zurich, Switzerland. Mr. McCormick is said to have personally supervised the arrangements for her New York debut at the Metropolitan Opera House, which was not a success.

An interesting description of Mrs. McCormick's recent trip to New York from Europe was given yesterday by a fellow passenger on the United States Line steamship George Westinghouse.

"She was a most striking figure on the promenade deck, with a rich robe of muskrat skin tucked about her, set with a weeping woman of middle age—pale, with an air of tragedy."

After an attack of cold and one-half years from her native land, she was returning to take a leading part in a musical comedy company in New York. She was accompanied by her husband, who was a fellow passenger on the United States Line steamship George Westinghouse.

The agreement had been arrived at in Paris, where the McCormicks met for the first time in more than a year. The burden of it was evidently upon her, and she was seen to be weeping as she sailed for America.

"Mrs. McCormick was a mystery to every one on board the ship. It was quite evident that she was laboring under a great deal of trouble."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

"I don't know at first what it was," he injected it again and again. "I was in a drug store, and I saw a man who was selling dope. I bought some and I felt it was my duty to kill him."

SHACKLETON ASKS AID FOR HIS STORM-TOSSED SHIP

The Quest Is Placed in Difficult Position Off Portuguese Coast

Lisbon, Oct. 4.—(By A. P.)—The steamer Quest, having on board Sir Ernest Shackleton and his party on their way to the Antarctic on a trip of exploration expected to last for four years, has been placed in a difficult position by a heavy storm off Cape Bojador, west of here.

The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

She has asked that help be sent. The Quest sailed September 17 on a 30,000 mile trip. Displacing 200 tons, it is the smallest vessel that ever set out on so long a cruise. The Quest is 111 feet long.

HOOVER'S SUCCESS IN WORK MEETING LEAVES 'TNT' TRAIL

Much 'Dynamite,' With Fuses Smoldering, Left in Hands of Committees

By CLINTON W. GILBERT Staff Correspondent Evening Ledger Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company. Washington, Oct. 4.—Secretary Hoover has finished his first real job for the Administration, the first of the kind that attracts public attention. He has done so in a way to win general applause.

As each committee of the unemployment conference retired, carrying a package of TNT, each package with a time fuse on it set to explode next week, some one remarked: "It takes a mining engineer to know how to handle dynamite."

If the committees do not extinguish the time fuses, the belief here is that Mr. Hoover will personally step on them. Several persons would like to see some of this TNT explode, including, perhaps, Secretary of Labor Davis, who was perhaps the best example of the unemployed seen at the unemployment conference.

But the unemployment of Secretary Davis is not the kind of story to tell in the first paragraph of a newspaper article. Any one who reads far enough down in this dispatch will learn how no staggering of hours was sufficient to provide a living job for the Secretary of Labor. Here was a problem for a laborer.

Trouble Always Looms When you bring employers and employees together there is always the possibility of trouble. Mr. Hoover did not want trouble. He desired a practical program for the unemployed, and those who were out of work, not a solution of the questions that vex a society in which some sell the labor of their hands and others buy it, both on the labor market, and on the market of the government to obtain a slight edge on the other. "Any one who starts a controversial subject will find himself outside the ball," said, or least thought, Mr. Hoover.

The practical program, revival of public work to give jobs and lower commodity prices, a start buying and manufacturing, went through, and the central financial subject was discussed. It was to be decided later after employers and employees had a look at the explosives in each other's hands and decided whether or not it was an auspicious moment to touch off the fuses.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

There are several packages that may go off next week when the conference gets together again and the committees report. Labor would like to bring up the subject of the unemployment conference. It is said that the conference will be held in the next few days.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION

City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

P. R. T. HAS NO OBJECTION City Also Willing to Let Associations Hear

Answers to petition of the City of Philadelphia and the United Business Men's Association to be allowed to join in the valuation hearings of P. R. T. Commission, ordered by the Public Service Commission, was filed by the City Solicitor today.

3 BANDITS GET $10,000 PAYROLL

Hold Up Hog Island Paymaster on Mifflin Road

FLEE IN AUTOMOBILE

A United States Shipping Board paymaster was robbed of $10,000 in cash by three bandits this afternoon on the Mifflin road, just beyond the county line.

The money which was taken from him was for